DETAILED OFFICE ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 04/06/2005 has been entered.

The for the purposes of examination, the claimed term of "the coordinates of said target protein" is interpreted as a set of coordinates derived from, and therefore usable to reproduce, the known structure of the target protein.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

The previous rejection of claims 1-5 and 7-25 under 35 USC § 101 and 35 USC § 112, First paragraph, for lack of specific and substantial utility is withdrawn in view of arguments presented by applicants.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-5, 7-13, and 22-25 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being incomplete for omitting essential structural cooperative relationships of elements, such omission amounting to a gap between the necessary structural connections. See MPEP § 2172.01. The omitted structural cooperative relationships are:

Claims 1 and 22 each recite in step a) "inputting the coordinates of said target protein into a computer". The remaining steps b)-d) in claim 1 and steps b)-e) in claim 22 further recite limitations drawn to primary variant positions and primary and secondary protein sequences. However, the instant claims do not recite any limitation that further refers or correlates back to the coordinates of the target protein input into a computer or the target protein itself. As such, the claims omit the essential structural cooperative relationship connecting the target protein input to the additional method steps drawn to utilizing a force field calculation, generating a probability distribution, and combining of a plurality of amino acids to generate a secondary library of protein sequences.

For purposes of continuing examination, it is construed that a primary protein library comprises protein sequences that are variants of the target protein at recited in step a) containing amino acid substitutions in a plurality of sequence positions.

Claims 1-5 and 7-25 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claims 1, 14, 15, 17, and 22 each recite a step drawn to combining a plurality of amino acids from a probability distribution to generate a secondary library of secondary sequences. However, it is unclear from the instant claims if the step of combining is intended to result in an in silico embodiment of protein sequences or if the result in the "real world" synthesis of actual protein sequences.

For the purpose of continuing examination, the step of combining a plurality of amino acid residues to generate a secondary library is construed to read on either an in silico library of proteins or, alternatively, a library of synthesized "real world" protein sequences.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-5 and 7-25 have been considered but are moot in view of the new grounds of rejection.
